

First, cellphones are good in case of an emergency.

-If you were lost you could use it to find your way home.

-And if someone was hurt you could use it to get help.

Second, You can learn on cellphones.

-You can download learning apps on your phone.

-The learning apps can make it fun to learn.

We've been talking about if kids should have cellphones or not. After talking about it I think that kids should have cellphones.

Last, it can help you keep responsibility.

-You need a lot of responsibility to have a phone.

-It is hard to keep a phone from being damaged.

Although I realize some people think differently, I still feel strongly that kids should have cellphones.

We've been talking about if kids should have cellphones or not. After talking about it I think that kids should have cellphones.

First, cellphones are good in case of an emergency. If you were lost you could use it to find your way home. And if someone was hurt you could use it to get help.

Second, you can learn on cellphones. You can download learning apps on your phone. The learning apps make it fun to learn.

Last, it can help you keep responsibility. You need a lot of responsibility to have a phone. It is hard to keep a phone from being damaged.

Although I realize some people think differently, I still feel strongly that kids should have cellphones.

Should kids have cellphones?

I read that people think kids should not have cellphones. I disagree. Kids should have them to keep them safe, keep connected, and teach them responsibility.

They keep kids safe. Kids can call in an emergency. It can tell you important information. And parents can know where their kids are at all times.

Cellphones can also keep kids in touch. That makes life so much easier. Parents can help the kid if they have to. It also can help kids know what to do.

It also teaches kids responsibility. It can give them important reminders too. It can also